(5) Where the result of the calculation under subsection (2)(b) yields a remainder of vacant seats not absorbed by the number of Aldermen awarded to a party or parties concerned, the surplus calculated under subsection (6) for a party competes with other similar surpluses accruing to any other party or parties, and any vacant positions for an Alderman or Aldermen not allocated under subsection (2)(b), shall be allocated to the party or parties concerned in sequence of the highest surplus until all vacant positions of Aldermen have been so allocated unless the party or parties concerned yielded no allocation of Alderman under subsection (2)(b).

the Elections and Boundaries Commission shall, not later than four days after the election referred to in section 11, inform the relevant parties of the number of Aldermen which they have been allotted.

Total valid votes for Party A	11,420
Total valid votes for Party B	8,013
Total valid votes for Party C	6,483
Seat allocation for Party A	11,420/6,479 = 1.76
Seat allocation for Party B	8,013/6,479 = 1.23
Seat allocation for Party C	6,483/6,479 = 1.00

Eliminate all fractions therefore—

Seat allocation for Party A—	1
Seat allocation for Party B—	1
Seat allocation for Party C—	1

Number of vacant seats remaining to be allocated (the surplus)—

$$4 - 3 = 1$$

C. Calculation of allocation of remaining vacant seats—

(a) Multiply quota by each party's number of seats earned—

Party A — 6,479 x 1 =	6,479
Party B — 6,479 x 1 =	6,479
Party C — 6,479 x 1 =	6,479

(b) Minus for each party from the total valid votes received from each party the figures under paragraph (a)—

Party A — 11,420 – 6,479	= 4,941
Party B — 8,013 – 6,479	= 1,534
Party C — 6,483 – 6,479	= 4

In allotting the remaining vacant seats, start allocation with the party having the highest amount under paragraph (b). Therefore Party A will be allocated the remaining seat while Parties B and C will receive no allocation.

(2) The Assistant Commissioner shall ensure that particulars of service and pay of all officers whose retirement is known to be imminent are furnished accurately to the Comptroller of Accounts not less than three months before the date on which the officers concerned are due to retire, in order to enable the computation and checking of pensions, retiring allowances and gratuities to be completed by the Comptroller of Accounts and the Auditor General and submitted for authorisation before the date on which the retirement of the officer from the Service is due to take effect.

Contribution to superannuation allowances.

180. (1) As a contribution towards the special superannuation allowances provided to officers, there shall be deducted from the pay of every officer a sum at such yearly rate as the President from time to time directs, not being a greater rate than one and one-quarter per cent and all such sums shall be paid to the Comptroller of Accounts on or before the eighth day of every month.

(2) In the event of an officer leaving the Service by reason of dismissal without being eligible for a pension or gratuity under any written law, he is entitled to the return in full, of all deductions made from his pay under subregulation (1), but the President may direct that any amount due to the State in respect of any liability or defalcation be deducted from any amount so returnable.

(3) In addition to the contribution payable under subregulation (1), an officer shall, if the case so requires, pay arrears of contribution in respect of his full-time service as an officer or in a pensionable office in the Public Service or in respect of both.

(4) The arrears of contribution payable under subregulation (3) shall be determined on the basis of the actual pay received by the officer for each year in respect of which the arrears are payable and the aggregate amount thereof shall, in the case of an officer who retires from the Service, be deducted from his pay, as far as practicable, by equal monthly instalments, over a period of three years from the above-mentioned date or such lesser period, where the remainder of the service of the officer in the Service is less than three years, or from his gratuity, by lump sum, where any arrears of contribution are unpaid on the retirement of such officer.

Pension to officer in special cases.

(2) A pension shall not be granted under subregulation (1) unless it is stated in a certificate of a Medical Board that the officer to whom the certificate refers is incapable from infirmity of mind or body of performing the duties of his office and that such infirmity is likely to be permanent.

(3) Subject to this regulation, an officer who is not disabled, has attained the age of fifty years and has served in the Service for not less than ten years may be granted a monthly pension not exceeding 1/480th of a month’s pay for each completed month of service.

Ch. 23:52.

(7) Where a period of service as an officer is or has been immediately followed by service in a pensionable office in another public service as defined in the Pensions Act, such an officer, notwithstanding anything contained in subregulation (4), is entitled to a monthly pension under the Act not exceeding 1/480th of a month's pay for each completed month of service if he has served in the Service for not less than ten years, and if he ultimately retires from that other public service at an age less than fifty years at which he is permitted by regulations of that service to retire with a pension, the pension which may be granted to him under the Act shall be payable from the date of such retirement, notwithstanding that he shall not be fifty years of age.

(8) An officer may, if he has exercised his option as provided in subregulation (9) but not otherwise, be paid, in lieu of any pension for which he is eligible, a pension at the rate of three-fourths of such pension together with a gratuity equal to twelve and one-half times the amount of the annual reduction so made in the pension.

(10) The date of the exercise of the option by an officer under subregulation (8) is deemed to be the date of the receipt of his written notification addressed to the Assistant Commissioner.

(11) Subject to subregulation (8), if an officer has exercised the option, his decision shall be irrevocable so far as concerns any pension to be granted to him under this regulation.

(12) Where an officer has not exercised the option, and dies after his retirement but before a pension has been awarded under the Act, the President may grant a gratuity and a reduced pension as provided for in subregulation (9) as if the officer before his death, had exercised the option.

(13) Nothing in this subregulation shall be construed to entitle an officer absolutely to any pension, or to prevent his being dismissed without pension, subject to subregulations (14) and (15), if such an officer to whom a pension has been granted under the Act is sentenced to a term of imprisonment by a Court in Trinidad and Tobago or elsewhere for any crime or offence, or quits Trinidad and Tobago after having reason to know that a charge of having committed any indictable or summary offence has been laid against him, and before such charge has been heard and determined, the President may direct that such pension shall immediately cease.

(14) An officer whose pension has ceased in pursuance of subregulation (13), and who at any time receives a pardon in respect of the offence for which he had been convicted, is entitled to have such pension restored to him with effect from the date on which it was ceased.

(15) The President may, where a pension ceases for the reasons set out in subregulation (13), cause all or any part of the moneys to which the pensioner would have been entitled by way of pension to be paid to or applied for the benefit of his wife or children or, after the expiration of his sentence, for his personal benefit in such proportions and manner as the President thinks proper, and such moneys shall be paid or applied accordingly.

182. (1) Where an order of maintenance is made against an officer to whom a pension has been granted under any written law,

(2) Where an officer to whom a pension has been granted has left Trinidad and Tobago and has deserted and left his wife or child in Trinidad and Tobago without sufficient means of support and by reason of such officer's absence from Trinidad and Tobago is unable and would, but for such absence, be able to obtain an order of maintenance, the President may from time to time cause to be deducted from the moneys payable to such officer by way of pension such sum as the President may consider expedient and apply the same for the maintenance and support of such wife or child.

Service for less than ten years.

183. (1) When an officer has been retired in accordance with regulation 181(1), and regulation 181(2) has been satisfied, but such officer has not served in the Service for ten years, he may be granted by way of gratuity a sum not exceeding one-twelfth of a month's pay for each completed month of service.

Totally destroyed	$\frac{1}{3}$ rd of a month's salary

(2) An officer who is permanently injured while travelling by air in pursuance of official instructions is deemed to have been injured in the circumstances detailed in subregulation (1)(a) and (c) and in any such case, if the provisions of subregulation (1)(b) are also satisfied, the rates of allowances shall be one-eighth, one-quarter, three-eighths, and one-half of a month's pay respectively, instead of the rates of allowance prescribed in subregulation (1).

- (b) where the injured officer is forty-five or more years old at the date of the injury; or
- (c) where the injury is not the sole cause of the retirement.

(5) Before granting an allowance under subregulation (1), the President shall be furnished with the report of a Medical Board, so far as may be possible, on the matters relevant to his decision, and shall be guided by such report.

(6) Where an injured officer has not qualified for any pension under this Act but is entitled to a gratuity under regulation 181(8) he may be granted, in lieu of such gratuity, a further allowance of such monthly sum, not exceeding one-twelfth of so many 480ths of a month's salary as is equal to the number of months he has actually served, as the President may direct.
